

Eng-Lite Program

English Corner Sessions 英語小聚

03.07 (MON) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | KAREN D. & PETER L.
RUSSIAN INVASION OF UKRAINE

03.22 (TUE) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | ALICE W. & ALISON C.
IS TANG PING (躺平) HERE TO STAY?

04.20 (WED) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | ALICE W. & SAMMI L.
SHALL WE GET SOME COFFEE? TAIWAN'S VERY OWN COFFEE.

04.28 (THU) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | KAREN D. & PETER L.
HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE COLLEGE STUDENTS?

05.10 (TUE) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | ALICE W. & ALISON C.
CAN WE GET SMARTER ABOUT DISINFORMATION?

05.19 (THU) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | KAREN D. & SAMMI L.
2030 BILINGUAL NATION POLICY

06.08 (WED) 12:30-13:30 文院115室 | ALICE W. & SAMMI L.
CENSORSHIP: WHAT CAN WE SEE, AND WHO ALLOWED US TO?

All events are primarily held in English.
Funding for all events are provided by the Center for Bilingual Education, NTU.
Sign-up links will be shared by the DFLL office through e-mail approx. 10 days before each event. If you are not from DFLL but would like to join, please scan the QR code to get access to the sign-up form.

Eng-Lite Program

Interdisciplinary Talks & Workshops 跨領域講座工作坊

05.04 (FRI) 12:30–13:30 文院115室 | Prof. Lilith Acadia
PRETEXT PUZZLES: LEARNING TO DECODE LIES

This workshop aims to give you a superpower: tools you can use to catch lies in conversation, reading the news, even introspecting. Through learning a set of tests and practicing your skills in realistic scenarios, you will learn about a special kind of lie: a 'pretext.' Like a fallacy of justification, a pretext is a justification for a belief or action that does not reflect motivations. So you'll start to see when a purported reason is merely a clever rhetorical trick to strengthen a weak argument or conceal true motives.

05.27 (FRI) 12:30–13:30 文院115 室 | PROF. 陳重仁
LOVE IN THE TIME OF PANDEMICS

Short description: This seminar aims to provoke a discussion of ethical conflicts in the time of pandemics. As contagious diseases challenge and redefine our understanding of interpersonal interactions and social obligation, writings about pandemics often radicalize existent social conflicts that underlie current problems of gender, class, race. Pandemic writings, in a sense, reveal our anxiety and anticipation of who we are and what our society becomes. Participants will be provided passages of quotes from literary writings about plagues, cholera, AIDS, Spanish Flu, EBOLA, and of course, COVID-19. Altogether, we will read and engage in the discussions of “what's true of all the evils in the world,” in Camus's words, in order to “rise about” ourselves.

---

All events are primarily held in English.
Funding for all events are provided by the Center for Bilingual Education, NTU.
Sign-up links will be shared by the DFLL office through e-mail approx. 10 days before each event. If you are not from DFLL but would like to join, please scan the QR code to get access to the sign-up form.

Eng-Lite Program

Online Alumni Talk Series 3 與海外系友線上有約 (三)

05.14 (SAT) 10:00-11:30 (TW TIME) | TPE-Vancouver

From DFLL to the World of Business: In Conversation with Liu and Huang
溫哥華行銷總監 X 溫哥華稅務會計師對談

Sandy Liu 劉珊汝 行銷總監

Sandy Liu is an experienced marketer with a decade of experience developing product and go-to-market strategies for start-ups, large businesses and nonprofits across the United States, Canada and Taiwan. Her experience spanned from working with Adobe in Silicon Valley as a Product Marketer, being a founding team member of TBWA Taiwan, a top global ad agency, to running a consultancy advising arts & culture organizations in making AR/VR experiences. For the last 4 years she has focused her career on immersive tech, including serving as the Head of Engagement for Shape Immersive, a Vancouver based Metaverse startup to her current position as Head of Marketing for Think Tank Training Centre, a top school training next generation CG artists for film, gaming, and AR/VR industries. Sandy holds an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School and was the president of the student association of DFLL in 2008.

Lyla Huang 黃翹 稅務會計師

Lyla Huang, CPA (Canada), CPA (Washington) is currently a Senior Tax Specialist at Anthem Properties Group, a multinational real estate developer based in Vancouver, BC. In her previous life, she was a published writer decorated with national literary awards in Taiwan. After completing her double majors in English and Chinese literature from National Taiwan University, she was honored to receive the highest entrance scholarship for her MA studies in cross-cultural history at the University of British Columbia. Subsequently, she decided to leverage her communication skills and research background to launch a career in business. In addition to her 9 to 5 role as a tax advisor, she helps start-ups develop compelling marketing strategies and coaches young professionals in perfecting their interviewing skills through her private consulting practice. In her free time, she enjoys learning about wine and following Formula 1.

All events are primarily held in English.

Funding for all events are provided by the Center for Bilingual Education, NTU.
Sign-up links will be shared by the DFLL office through e-mail approx. 10 days before each event. Links to the session will be attached to the confirmation email.

If you are not from DFLL but would like to join,
please scan the QR code to get access to the sign-up form.

